Fred Rogers, better known as Mister Rogers, was a beloved children's television host, author, and ordained Presbyterian minister. For over 30 years, he hosted the Emmy Award-winning show Mister Rogers' Neighborhood, which taught children about the importance of kindness, empathy, and compassion. Rogers was a strong advocate for children's rights, and he believed that all children deserved to be loved and respected.

In his book Neighborhoodly Words of Wisdom, Rogers shares his thoughts on a variety of topics, including kindness, empathy, compassion, children, parenting, education, and inspiration. The book is filled with his signature wisdom and gentle humor, and it is sure to inspire readers of all ages.

Here are just a few of the many wonderful quotes from Neighborly Words of Wisdom:

““There are three ways to ultimate success: The first way is to be kind. The second way is to be kind. The third way is to be kind.””

““When I was a boy and I would see scary things in the news, my mother would say to me, ‘Look for the helpers. You will always find people who are helping.’””

““It’s not the honors or the prizes or the fancy title that make us special. It’s who we are inside, and it’s what we give back to the world that truly counts.””

““In the world of children, there are no such things as strangers. There are only friends we haven’t met yet.””

““I hope you can always find time for the people you love and the things you enjoy ng. Because life is short, and you never know when it might end.””
